

TURKS BOAST OF LENIN PACT

Kemalist Envoy at Moscow Says Soviet and Nationalists Have Perfected Alliance.

By LOUISE BRYANT, International News Service.

MOSCOW (By wireless to Berlin), Jan. 26.—Halli Pasha, ambassador from Mustafa Kemal Pasha to Moscow, announced today that he had been completely successful in his mission to bring Soviet Russia and nationalist Turkey into a close alliance.

SHREWD COMMENT ON U. S.

The Turkish envoy made some remarkable observations upon the future relations of Turkey and the United States, saying:

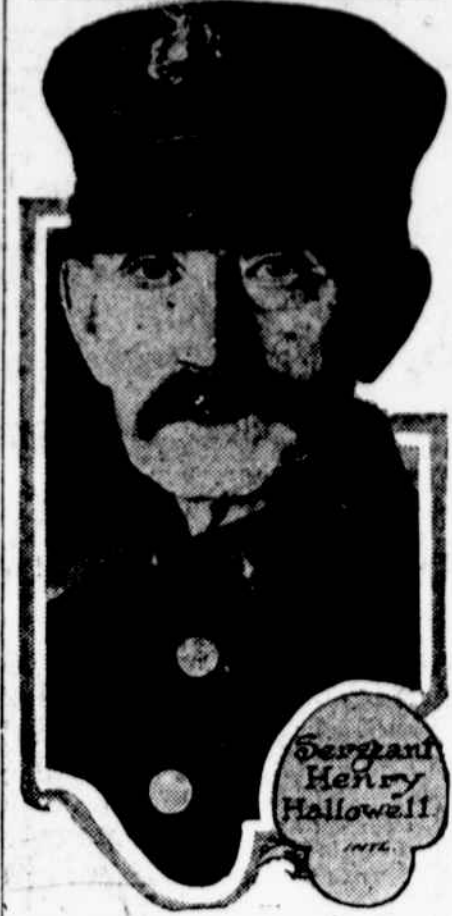

"The Turkish nation expected much from America through President Wilson's fourteen points. Every reasonable Turk knew that the American people had no imperialistic aims. We have always honored those people who do not have their eyes on the property of others. We Turks are slow to make friends and also slow to make enemies. We have never believed that the American people were behind the injustices of President Wilson. England has beaten Germany—but she still has her great rival—the United States. One cannot tell how this rivalry will end. Turkey and America may yet be friends."

Halli Pasha is the uncle of Enver Pasha, former minister of war in the Turkish government. He commanded the Turkish army in Mesopotamia which captured General Townshend and a whole British army corps at Kut-el-Amara during the world war. He was commander-in-chief of all the Turkish armies on the Caucasus, Mesopotamian, and Persian fronts, when he fought both the Russians and the British.

Asked how two enemies like Turkey and Russia would become friends, the Turkish diplomat replied:

"From the beginning of its existence the great national assembly of the nationalist government at Angora, Anatolia, has accepted the Russian soviet republic as its natural friend

SERGEANT HENRY HALLOWELL, of McPherson, Kan., who, at eighty-two, is the oldest marine in active service. As erect and soldierly in appearance as the day he stood as orderly to President Buchanan at the White House, Sergeant Hallowell clearly typifies the healthy outdoor lives of the "Soldiers of the Sea."

and ally. Consequently we decided to be on cordial terms."

RUSSIA NATURAL FRIEND.

Halli Pasha was scornful of reports that the followers of Mustafa Kemal Pasha would make a bargain with the British to fight the red Russians. "The Entente under the leadership of Great Britain has misused explicit article of the armistice," said he.

"They occupied Musul which was occupied by Turks when the armistice was signed. The same thing happened at Stambul. Turks were disarmed and Greeks were armed, which led to the occupation of Anatolia. The British took over all the railroads and electric lines. All this aggressiveness convinced the Nationalists of the real motive of the entente. It forced the Anatolian people to act as became their traditions."

"While the Turkish generals at Constantinople were being arrested, Mustafa Pasha by a lucky chance was on his way to Erzerum and Sivas, where he had been sent by the Turkish government to investigate disturbances.

U. S. IS NINTH IN EDUCATION

'Most of Civilized World Ahead,' Says U. S. Committee Asking Federal School Aid.

The United States, in education, occupies ninth place, with "most of the civilized world ahead of us," illiteracy alone is responsible for an economic loss to the country of $225,000,000 a year.

TEACHERS FORCED TO QUIT.

Teachers' salaries are so low that "the competent and self-respecting are being driven from their work."

Scores of communities are financially unable to support any schools at all.

These are some of the startling assertions made by the House Committee on Education in a report recommending passage of the Smith-Towner bill providing for a Federal department of education and Federal aid to the States as a necessary measure to meet the situation.

NO FEDERAL AUTOCRACY.

In its report the committee, of which Representative Egan, Republican, Ohio, is chairman, denies that the bill would give the Federal Government power to determine courses of study or sanction interference with public or private school management in any State. It adds:

"The idea is fundamentally sound that the nation, the State and the local community should share in the responsibility and the expense of supporting an equalized system of public education."

The committee scouts the oft-made assertion that illiteracy is essentially a problem of the South. It says:

"The facts do not warrant that conclusion. Georgia has 389,000 illiterates, but New York has 406,000, Alabama has 352,000, while Pennsylvania has 354,000. Louisiana has 352,000, Mississippi, 290,000, and Texas, 262,000, but Illinois has 168,000, Ohio 124,000, and New Jersey 141,000.

Even Massachusetts has 141,000 and undertakes partially to solve the problem by depriving them of the right to vote.

A RACIAL COMPARISON.

"It is thought by some that illiteracy is a race question, but it is much more than that. There are over 1,000,000 more white illiterates in the United States than illiterate negroes."

"If education should be given the recognition which its importance requires, if illiteracy is a national peril, if ignorance of our language and institutions is a source of danger, if through the equalization of educa-

KIDNAPED GIRL RETURNS DEAD

Body of Cora Patterson Arrives Home Mysteriously—She Vanished in 1919.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Jan. 26.—Mystery surrounds the arrival here of a girl's body, said to be that of Cora Patterson, twenty-eight, of Ludlow. Long-distance telephone calls from Boston and New Haven, Conn., with instructions concerning the body deepened the mystery.

ASK FOR AUTOPSY.

Miss Patterson was reported kidnapped in September, 1919, by a Springfield man. Mr. and Mrs. James Patterson, the young woman's parents, have asked for an autopsy.

According to the authorities at the City Hospital in Boston, where the woman died, she was the wife of Clarence Edward Magee, of Springfield.

According to the parents it was in Magee's machine that their daughter was taken away. Magee can't be found.

Miss Patterson was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Patterson, of Howard street, Ludlow. Late in August, 1919, she was brought to the home of her parents from Springfield seriously ill. By advice of a physician she slept outdoors, using the front veranda as a sleeping porch.

HOW KIDNAPING OCCURRED.

During the night of September 14, 1919, she was spirited away. Her disappearance has always been a mystery. The only clue was a note, signed in her name, but in masculine handwriting, found on the porch the following morning. It was on a leaf torn from a small note book and said:

"I'm going away. Don't worry about me."

It was believed she had been kidnapped. It was found where a car had been stopped in the street in front of the Patterson home.

Members of the family felt positive she had been carried away, as she was never seen again. A walk investigation covering a period of several weeks followed. The family did not care about undue publicity, but they traced clues that led to all parts of the country. Finally they gave up in despair.

MAGEE GAVE FUNERAL ORDERS.

The Boston undertaker who sent the body to Springfield said Magee made all arrangements and was deeply affected. A post card dated Worcester came to the undertaker from Magee yesterday instructing that the personal effects be sent to Ludlow.

Cora Patterson at the time of her disappearance was employed as a domestic at the home of Clarence Magee. Shortly afterward Magee disappeared, leaving his wife and children in Springfield.

MAGEE DEEPLY AFFECTED.

W. H. Graham, the Boston undertaker, who shipped the body to Springfield, said that Magee, who seemed deeply affected, made all the arrangements for shipping the body to Springfield. Magee went to Springfield on the noon train last Friday, immediately after the body was shipped, Mr. Graham said.

Graham received a post card from Magee, post marked Worcester, instructing that the clothing and personal effects be sent to the girl's mother at Ludlow. The body has been removed from the undertaking rooms to the Ludlow Center cemetery, where it was placed in a vault.

Mrs. Magee, wife of Clarence Edward Magee, was located with her daughter at South Deerfield. When asked about the case she replied: "I knew nothing about it and have nothing to say."

PLOT TO EXTERMINATE ALABAMA DRY AGENTS

FLORENCE, Ala., Jan. 26.—A plot to exterminate the entire force of prohibition enforcement officers operating in northern Alabama has been unearthed, according to State Supervisor N. L. Pierce.

Discovery of the plot, he said, followed the arrest of 11 persons in connection with the killing last Saturday of Don Stephenson, a member of a prohibition squad, and the wounding at the same time of two other officers.

MANY GIRLS WORKING WAY THROUGH COLLEGE

WELLESLEY, Mass., Jan. 26.—Having all the necessary money is no longer necessary for the girl who would go to college. Such parental jobs as tending fires may still be for men only, but many girls now wait on table, do part time clerical work for the college office, and in many other ways are succeeding in earning all or nearly all of their college expenses. Of the 1,552 girls at Wellesley College, approximately one-fifth are earning either all or a part of their way through. Sixty girls get help from endowed scholarships.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Jan. 26.—Three well-known Harvard professors—Paul H. Hanus, Edwin H. Hall and Edward S. Sheldon—will retire from active teaching at the end of the year, and each of them has been appointed professor emeritus by the governing board of the university.
